POSITION SUMMARY

Day and Night supervisors are required to provide support and supervision to Indigenous students (in years 10, 11 and 12) participating in the Nura Gili Winter School Program. Supervisors must also provide ongoing support to Nura Gili and faculty staff involved in the program; and maintain a positive commitment to UNSW during the Winter School. This program runs from Monday 4th July 2016 – Saturday 9th July 2016.

ORGANISATIONAL ENVIRONMENT

Nura Gili’s vision is to be recognised nationally and internationally as a leader in achieving academic excellence in Indigenous higher education programs, research and student support services.

Nura Gili’s purpose is to enrich Australia culturally and professionally, and to enhance the capacity of Indigenous communities and individuals to engage in all aspects of Australian society, through:
- enrolling and successfully graduating significant numbers of Australian Indigenous students;
- striving for academic excellence;
- creating an inspiring and supportive environment that celebrates Indigenous heritage, diversity and the achievement of social justice; and
- leading and contributing to high quality research, scholarship and teaching that creates and disseminates new knowledge.

The UNSW Winter School is a fully supervised, week-long residential program designed to provide Indigenous students in years 10, 11 and 12 with an opportunity to experience university life. The program is coordinated by Nura Gili who covers the costs for all participants.
During Winter School, 100 students are introduced to tertiary studies in an area of their choice whilst also participating in university life with fellow Indigenous students from around the country.

Apart from the team at Nura Gili and the relevant staff in each faculty, supervisors make up a very important component of Winter School. Each faculty has two allocated day supervisors and there are also dedicated night supervisors who stay on campus each night for the duration of the program.
